

Housing Materials Division

Modern homes for today's environment

Responding to diverse needs by providing materials that are friendly to both humans and the environment

Seiichi Sato
General Manager,
Housing Materials Div.

The Housing Materials Division is responsible for sales of building materials, housing equipment, and other environmentally friendly products.

By offering original solutions through our global network, we strive to cater to diverse customer needs. These solutions include importing housing building materials which are procured and processed overseas, and distributing them throughout Japan.

As constructions of new houses continue to decline, the Japanese housing business is expected to become more diverse with different demographics requiring fulfillment from varied types of housing.

In response to such diversifying needs, we at the Housing Materials Division will remain committed to offering a fine-tuned product mix and exploring untapped opportunities in the housing market.

Housing Industry Group

Sale of building materials, housing equipment and plastics products to housing construction companies

Products

Particle boards, housing equipment, prefabricated baths, system kitchens, FRP products

Building Materials Group

Import of laminated timber and other materials for building materials manufacturers. Sale of interior/exterior building materials and FRP products

Products

European-origin lumber, Chinese-origin lumber, American-origin lumber, tropical lumber, laminated timber, flooring products, wall materials, FRP products, adhesives

