

Inabata Articulates New Corporate Message Highlighting Its Strengths as a Global Company: “Connecting Your Everyday. Weaving Our Future.”

Inabata & Co., Ltd. has articulated the corporate message “Connecting Your Everyday. Weaving Our Future.” as part of its corporate communication initiatives, along with a visual design that embodies the concept behind it. Moving forward, Inabata will further strengthen communication with both external and internal stakeholders.

The corporate message was developed through company-wide discussions among employees, who revisited Inabata’s founding values of “love (ai)” and “respect (kei),” reflected on the company’s role and value, and considered how it can best serve its clients in the future. The result expresses, in concise terms, the value the company provides and the strengths it brings to that role.

Inabata aims to deliver optimal solutions to clients worldwide across a wide range of fields, including information & electronics, chemicals, life industries, and plastics. By combining diverse functions, the company will continue striving to enhance its corporate value as a trading company committed to connecting clients’ everyday needs and weaving the future.
